Dear Parishioners:

What a site in Rio as an estimated crowd of 3 million people gathered on the Copacabana Beach for a World Youth Day Mass with Pope Francis. The Holy Father told the young people jamming the beach that the Church needs their enthusiasm and creativity. He urged them to go out and spread their faith "to the fringes of society," even to those who seem the most indifferent.

Pope Francis continued to challenge the young people and the entire Church in his homily. Here are some highlights from his powerful sermon:

"Where does Jesus send us? There are no borders, no limits: he sends us to everyone. The Gospel is for everyone, not just for some. It is not only for those who seem closer to us, more receptive, more welcoming. It is for everyone. Do not be afraid to go and to bring Christ into every area of life, to the fringes of society, even to those who seem farthest away, most indifferent. The Lord seeks all; he wants everyone to feel the warmth of his mercy and his love.

And then, Jesus did not say: "One of you go," but "All of you go": we are sent together. Dear young friends, be aware of the companionship of the whole Church and also the communion of the saints on this mission. When we face challenges together, then we are strong, we discover resources we did not know we had. Jesus did not call the Apostles to live in isolation; he called them to form a group, a community.

Evangelizing means bearing personal witness to the love of God, it is overcoming our selfishness; it is serving by bending down to wash the feet of our brethren, as Jesus did. Go, do not be afraid, and serve. If you follow these three ideas, you will experience that the one who evangelizes is evangelized; the one who transmits the joy of faith receives joy. Bringing the Gospel is bringing God's power to pluck up and break down evil and violence, to destroy and overthrow the barriers of selfishness, intolerance and hatred, so as to build a new world. Jesus Christ is counting on you! The Church is counting on you! The Pope is counting on you!"

The Holy Father's message was delivered to the young Catholics attending World Youth Day but it really is a message for each one of us, young and old, priest and laity. Do we bring Christ with us wherever we go or is He only for Church on Sundays? How well are we bearing witness to the Lord's love and mercy with our own actions and words? Is there someone at work, at home, at school or even at the local breakfast joint we frequent everyday who needs Christ in their lives?

Perhaps we who faithfully come to be with Jesus at Mass each week need to reach out more to our neighbors, friends and even some members of our own families who have drifted away from the Lord and His Church and invite them back to be with the Lord.

Maybe we need to simply invite them to join us at Mass to share the experience of joy and hope we celebrate and proclaim each week at Eucharist. If everyone who regularly attends Mass invited just one person whose been away from the Church back to Mass imagine what could happen! Is there someone in your life who needs to receive that invitation?

Let us pray: "Heavenly Father, stir in my soul the desire to renew my faith and deepen my relationship with your Son, our Lord Jesus Christ so that I might truly believe in and live the Good News. Open my heart to hear the Gospel and grant me the confidence to proclaim the Good News to others. Pour out your Spirit, so that I might be strengthened to go forth and witness to the Gospel in my everyday life through my words and actions.

In moments of hesitation, remind me: If not me, then who will proclaim the Gospel? If not now, then when will the Gospel be proclaimed? If not the truth of the Gospel, then what shall I proclaim? I pray that through the Holy Spirit I might hear the call to deepen my faith, grow in confidence to proclaim the Gospel and boldly witness to the saving grace of your Son, Jesus Christ. Amen." God Bless.

Father Healey

The Catechism Corner

Cremation remains one of those topics that might cause some confusion for Catholics. For centuries the Church forbade cremation, right?? Yes. And now it's okay?? Another, yes. How can this change?? Well, it can change because it was a law of the Church and all laws that are not divine are subject to alteration depending upon the needs of the present age. The Church forbade cremation first during the Middle Ages because there were numerous instances of so-called "believers" who wanted their bodies cremated out of complete disgust for the flesh. They saw the body as the prison of their soul and an impediment to their true holiness. After their death they would fully reveal this contempt by destroying their body in the most effective way they could--by burning it. This understanding is obviously contrary to the Church's teaching regarding the goodness of all creation and especially the resurrection of the body, so the Church would not allow cremation for those reasons. But what if someone believed in the goodness of the body and in the resurrection of the dead, but still wanted to be cremated?? That's the question that the Church has been asked. Since the original prohibition had to do not with cremation itself so much as with the reasons behind it, now "the Church permits cremation, provided that it does not demonstrate a denial of faith in the resurrection of the body." The Church has even recently allowed a Funeral Mass to be celebrated in the presence of the cremated remains (the "cremains"), something not allowed before 1998. What this practice reveals is the Church's great ability to adjust to the needs of a particular society while maintaining the Truth of the Catholic Faith. There are some things, of course, that the Church does not allow in terms of cremated remains and those would be the practice of "scattering the ashes" or even keeping the ashes in one's home. Both of these practices seem to undermine the respect that we must show for the bodies of the deceased. A body or the cremated remains must be buried in a grave or at sea or entombed in a mausoleum or columbarium. How we treat the dead, after all, is one indication of how we treat the living. The Church calls us to respect all of the stages of life and death so that when that Last Day comes we may bridge the gap of death and enter into that eternal gift of LIFE--soul AND BODY. Check it out in the Catechism of the Catholic Church #2301.
