Dear Parishioners:

On Monday as we celebrated the Holyday of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, I also distributed report cards to our OLM school students.

It's always a privilege to do so for our fine students who are so well taught by our outstanding faculty.

The report cards were very good as we are blessed with students who work hard, study hard, and are dedicated to their studies.

We are blessed to have such a fine school as OLM where students not only are provided academic excellence but, most importantly, are taught the Catholic Faith by word and example on a daily basis. In our secular age when Christmas is becoming the Winter Holiday and God is removed from the public square, how blessed we are to have a fine parish school where the faith is practiced and God made welcome every day.

At OLM School during the Advent Season our students are taught the value of patience and prayer as they joyfully anticipate the coming of Christ. In very concrete ways they are taught to serve God and neighbor. As they study the rigors of math and science they also are taught Christian Charity on a daily basis. This is done unabashedly and proudly as the students learn to think not only of themselves but of those less fortunate and those suffering in need.

Whether its helping the good folks at McAuley House serve the poor and homeless or supporting the Keep the Heat On Fund, the OLM School students, faculty and families strive to serve others first and foremost. It is clear that OLM School makes a difference in our community and in our world and we should be proud of the school and her continued mission of mercy.

How is your Advent going? Have you been able to slow down and pray? Have you made a good confession? Have you put God at the top of the list of things to do this season? Advent moves quickly as does the world around us this time of year. Take some time in the next week to stop, pray, and reflect on the real meaning of the season. God came to us in human flesh at Christmas not so we would spend hours waiting in lines to shop and buy but rather that we might spend our time trying to become more like Him, more Godly!

One great way to stop and reflect on the Season of Advent is to take place on Monday night at 7:00PM. I invite you to join us for a celebration of Advent Vespers as we gather to sing and pray the psalms and songs of the season. We are grateful that Bishop Evans is to lead our time of prayer especially as Monday marks his fifth anniversary of ordination as a bishop. Also, I am so pleased to have Father Richard Valentine, the Pastor of St. Michael's Parish in Smithfield, offer a reflection on Advent.

I hope you might join us for thirty minutes of prayer, song and reflection as we celebrate the true meaning of the Season of Advent. The mall can wait, join us on Monday night! The Lord is near, let us rejoice!

This week we move into what is traditionally known as the Late Advent Season as we begin to pray and recite the "O Antiphons" from December 17th through December 23rd. In the bulletin this week we have included an explanation of the "O Antiphons" as well as a prayerful reflection to use during this time.

It is during these Late Advent Days that our preparation and prayer for the coming of Christ becomes more intense as we joyfully anticipate his arrival and the celebration of his birth on Christmas. Advent is a season of vigil that calls us to remain vigilant for Christ in our lives. During the busiest days preceding Christmas we are called to watch in prayer and with patience for the signs of Christ's coming to bring us His peace.

Christ comes not in the past, nor in the future, but Christ comes to us in our everyday life and in our world today. Let us prayerfully prepare room for Him in our hearts, homes and world!

We rejoice in the Lord on this Gaudete Sunday because His arrival is near. May these next weeks be a time of rejoicing in the Lord with prayer and patience, charity and love, generosity and faith, hope and mercy! Have a great week, celebrate Advent! God Bless. Go Pats!

Father Healey

Dear Fr. Connors: If a Catholic stops practicing the Catholic faith or even enters another religion, is he or she still a Catholic?

The short answer is "Yes." We cannot undo what God has done. Someone cannot become un-baptized.

The important principle here is that sin does not trump divine action. It is God who acts in Baptism. He makes a new Christian. Whatever sins one commits—including the abandonment of the right worship of God—one is still a Christian. What God did with that person—uniting them to Himself—is not undone.

Sin, of course, can separate us from friendship with God but it doesn't change what God affected in us. The baptized sinner still has a privileged place in the economy of salvation.

Three Sacraments, Baptism, Confirmation and Holy Orders, confer what is called an indelible character. These Sacraments can only be received once. What they affect cannot be removed. A Catholic who abandons the practice of the faith is still in fact a Baptized or Confirmed Catholic. Similarly, even a priest who leaves the active exercise of the priestly ministry is still in fact a priest. That Sacrament can never be undone.

The modern emphasis on human freedom is all well and good. But the principle remains: God's action has primacy. Sin doesn't have the last word as God's action trumps all. What He affects in Baptism—when He makes one a Christian—that doesn't change.

In this Advent season it is an occasion to pray that those who may have left the practice of the faith will find in the birth of newborn Savior a reason to return. To commit again to living according to what they are, namely, a Christian which can never change.

If you have a question for Fr. Connors about the Catholic Faith or a matter of Church Teaching, please email him at associatepastor@olmparish.org

3rd Sunday of Advent

The traditional name for the Third Sunday of Advent is Gaudete Sunday. The name comes from Gaudete in Domino semper, Latin for “Rejoice in the Lord always,” opening words of today’s entrance antiphon (brief scriptural text that is usually replaced by an opening hymn).

Because one of Advent’s tasks is to prepare us for Christ’s return at the end of time, this season once had a penitential quality similar to that of Lent. Gaudete Sunday with its rose vestments and relaxation of austerities softened the period and gave a glimpse of its fulfillment just as its counterpart, Laetare Sunday, did at the midpoint of Lent.

Viewed now as a season of devout and joyful expectation, Advent retains very little of its old penitential focus, but we still have the option of using the liturgical color of rose today as we rejoice that Christmas is near, and Christ’s second coming is nearer than it was yesterday.

O Antiphons Of Advent

The O Antiphons are an ancient prayer of preparation for Christmas. Since at least the 6th century, one has been assigned to each of the seven days before Christmas. The hymn O Come O Come Emmanuel is based upon these ancient prayers. Each day provides a different title for Jesus, corresponding to the prophecies of the Old Testament. Taken in reverse order, the first letter of each antiphon in Latin spells Ero Cras, which means “Tomorrow I will come.” It is customary to pray each of these antiphons before and after the Magnificat prayer of Mary.

December 17: O Wisdom, coming forth from the mouth of the Most High, reaching from one end to the other, mightily and sweetly ordering all things: Come and teach us the way of prudence.

December 18: O Adonai, and leader of the House of Israel, who appeared to Moses in the fire of the burning bush and gave him the law on Sinai: Come and redeem us with an outstretched arm.

December 19: O Root of Jesse, standing as a sign among the peoples; before you kings will shut their mouths, to you the nations will make their prayer: Come and deliver us, and delay no longer.

December 20: O Key of David and scepter of the House of Israel; you open and no one can shut; you shut and no one can open: Come and lead the prisoners from the prison house, those who dwell in darkness and the shadow of death.

December 21: O Morning Star, splendor of light eternal and sun of righteousness: Come and enlighten those who dwell in darkness and the shadow of death.

December 22: O King of the nations, and their desire, the cornerstone making both one: Come and save the human race, which you fashioned from clay.

December 23: O Emmanuel, our king and our lawgiver, the hope of the nations and their Savior: Come and save us, O Lord our God.

The antiphons are said before and after reciting Mary’s Magnificat prayer which is below:

My soul proclaims the greatness of the Lord, my spirit rejoices in God my Savior for he has looked with favor on his lowly servant. From this day all generations will call me blessed: the Almighty has done great things for me, and holy is his Name. He has mercy on those who fear him in every generation. He has shown the strength of his arm, he has scattered the proud in their conceit. He has cast down the mighty from their thrones, and has lifted up the lowly. He has filled the hungry with good things, and the rich he has sent away empty. He has come to the help of his servant Israel for he has remembered his promise of mercy, the promise he made to our fathers, to Abraham and his children for ever.

In this memoir, set as deeply in his mind as in the Southeast Asian jungle, a young American soldier embarks on a journey to a war that, for him, will never be over.

The world was a playground for Mickey, a naive Irish American kid bored with his life. His father served in World War II, his brother was a Marine in Vietnam; now it was his turn. His 365 days in Vietnam builds in torment until an attack on a bunker complex in Cambodia. Wounded, his friend captured, he becomes a tormented survivor knowing he is always just a heartbeat from death.
