Dear Parishioners:

Hurricane Arthur brought lots of rain but managed to bring us some spectacular weather after he left town. I hope you had a great Fourth of July weekend and were able to enjoy the weather. Summer is the time to relax and enjoy the season.

The Gospel last week spoke about resting in the Lord and Pope Francis spoke about how Sundays are no longer days of rest. He lamented the abandoning of the traditional Christian practice of not working on Sundays, suggesting that it has had a negative impact on families and friendships.

Pope Francis stated that poor people need jobs to have dignity but that opening stores and other businesses on Sundays as a way to create jobs wasn't beneficial for society. The Holy Father said the priority should be "not economic but human," and that the stress should be on families and friendships, not commercial relationships. He stated: "Maybe it's time to ask ourselves if working on Sundays is true freedom."

Interestingly enough in last Sunday's New York Times, the columnist Ross Douthat wrote an excellent column about the Hobby Lobby store chain. Douthat wrote that the 600 stores owned and operated by a devout Evangelical Protestant Family employs nearly 13,000 people. It sets its lowest full-time wage at $15 per hour and it also donates 10% of its profits to charity. Hobby Lobby is also closed on Sundays because the owners believe in honoring the Sabbath.

Hobby Lobby has been in the news lately thanks to the U.S. Supreme Court Decision regarding the Obama Administration's Healthcare Mandate that employers pay for abortion inducing drugs used by employees. The Court ruled that the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) "preventive services" mandate violates the Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA) as applied to Hobby Lobby to the extent that it would have forced them to provide insurance coverage for drugs and devices that violate their religious convictions on respect for human life.

Douthat's column raises some serious questions for those who would quickly dismiss the decision's support for religious liberty for a small family owned business. He suggests that many have turned the idea of religious liberty upside down by maintaining it is confined only to liturgy and worship. I highly recommend you read his insightful column.

Sadly the decision has resulted in some terrible attacks in the media upon Hobby Lobby, committed Christians and also Catholics. Last week the Freedom from Religion Foundation ran a full-page ad in the New York Times decrying the decision and attacking the five Supreme Justices who made the decision for their Catholic Faith.

Cardinal Dolan of New York responded to the ad in his weekly column stating:

"Would they take out such an ad (and would any respectable newspaper publish it?) claiming a Jewish congressman could not freely vote on aid to Israel?; or that a Mormon judge could not rule on marriage?; or that a Baptist legislator could not clearly vote on issues of liquor or gambling?; or that a Quaker president was unable to be Commander-in-Chief?; or that an African-American justice had no objectivity on a civil rights issue?"

Of course not! But, in keeping with a long, shadowy, legacy of antipathy, justices who happen to be Catholics—never mind their past frequent votes hardly consonant with the public teaching of their faith—are branded and bullied by a group who only succeed in providing the latest example of a prejudice that has haunted us for centuries."

Locally the pro-abortion, atheist group called the Humanist Society of RI held a tiny protest at Hobby Lobby last Saturday. The small group attacked the company's Christian beliefs and called for a boycott. I suggest just the opposite and urge you to go shopping at Hobby Lobby. Support them in their mission to remain faithful to their religious convictions not just at Church but also at the workplace. Of course if you go to Hobby Lobby, you cannot go on Sundays as they are closed in honor of God! God Bless.

Father Healey

Dear Nicholas: What do we call you?

One of the most common questions I get asked is “what do I refer to you as?” The short answer is that you call me Nicholas, Nick or the seminarian. I do not have an official title now because, as a seminarian, I have neither been ordained to the Diaconate or the Priesthood, nor have I taken any vows. I am, right now, simply discerning my vocation actively in the seminary.

A seminarian is not referred to as Father because he has not received the sacrament of Holy Orders which makes an indelible mark on the soul, that is, a mark which last into eternity. There are three sacraments which place an indelible mark on the soul: Baptism, Confirmation and Holy Orders. For all three of these sacraments the recipient takes a different name to show the radical change which the recipient has undergone through the graces of the sacrament.

In Baptism, the recipient is welcomed into Christ’s family for the first time through the rinsing away of original sin which separated mankind from God’s grace. To show this welcoming into the Family of Christ, the recipient is given a name. Through Confirmation, which is the last sacrament of Christian initiation, the recipient is fully instituted into the Church and takes the name of a saint to show that they are being lead into the fullness of Christ’s inheritance.

The Sacrament of Holy Orders also places an indelible mark on the recipient. However, unlike Baptism and Confirmation, the recipient does not chose a name but is given the title Father. This is because the recipient is ordained to act in the Person of Christ. When the Priest celebrates Mass, hears confession or ministers the other sacraments, he is not acting in his name but in the name of Christ. For this reason the recipient does not chose a name but is given the name Father because he is being brought into Christ’s Priesthood.

Peace of Christ,

Seminarian Nicholas Robenhymmer

Ordinary Time, Year A

The Gospels of Ordinary Time are a semicontinuous reading of the three synoptic Gospels arranged in a three-year cyclic pattern.

In A years, we read Matthew; in B years, we read Mark; and in C years, we read Luke.

This is an A year, a year for reading Matthew, whose Gospel emphasizes Jesus as the promised Messiah, the fulfillment of the old law.

In this memoir, set as deeply in his mind as in the Southeast Asian jungle, a young American soldier embarks on a journey to a war that, for him, will never be over.

The world was a playground for Mickey, a naive Irish American kid bored with his life. His father served in World War II, his brother was a Marine in Vietnam; now it was his turn. His 365 days in Vietnam builds in torment until an attack on a bunker complex in Cambodia. Wounded, his friend captured, he becomes a tormented survivor knowing he is always just a heartbeat from death.
